The Bluestack Way is fully marked using Yellow Arrows and Walking Man

WALK DIRECTIONS

B-C. Turn left immediately after the bridge and cross the stile to continue the walk along the northern bank of the Owenea River keep the River on your left. Look out for Kingfisher, Damselflies and Dragon flies, Trout rising in dark pools, Otter and Mink crossing the path around the river and small Orchids blooming along the trail. After ca. 3km cross a small tributary to the Owenea river. Now you will find the half buried rails of the old narrow gauge bog railway that was used to bring the turf out for Bord na Mona. After you cross the second stile you are at the new Fisheries bridge, where you cross back to the southern river bank at the Pumping station.

C-D. Follow the roughly surfaced bog road south, away from the Owenea River and towards Glengesh Pass and the Donegal hills in the distance. After a gentle rise, you get a great view of the Atlantic Ocean ahead of you. Turn left, cross the stile beside a wire gate and take the first right to bring you to the T-junction with the R261. Turn left and follow the road up the hill and straight down into the heart of Ardara. At the diamond in front of the Ulster Bank you find the western trail head of the Bluestack Way.

This is the end of section 3 of the Bluestack Way.

NOTE: The Bluestack Way forms part of the International Appalachian Trail (IAT) in Ireland from Sliabh Liag to Larne. You now have the option to continue west on the IAT and Slí Cholmcille .
